HAWAHAN QUESTION DISCUSSED.

A Cable Yearn This Country to the Yelend One of the Things Demanded-The Ad-

question in general and the Hawaiian cable in particular were the main thomes cable in particular wore the main themes before the senate yesterday. The diplomatic consular appropriation bill was taken up and would have been quickly appear of except for the item of $500, 600 for immediately beginning cable construction between the United States and Hawmi. Mr. Mills of Texas made a point of order against the cable proposition which is likely to rule it out, but the decision was withheld until sen tors could further debate Hawaii.

Mr. Hale presented estimates showing the prospective cost of the cable to be about $2,500,000. Mr. Platt uphold the cable project and read early presidential messages of Mr. Cloveland, urging congress to provide for the cable Mr. Platt also maintained that Great Britain would build this cable if the United States did not, thus linking England and Hawaii by commercial ties. Mr. Teller renowed his criticisms of Secretary Herbert's course toward Hawaii. Mr. Gray defended the course of Secretary Herbert and of the administration and consteady characterized. the overthrow of Queen Lil as a "mean

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

"I do not believe that it is right to man guilty. I always remember an experience in ray own life when, if I had been tried for murder on circumstantial evidence, I would have been proved guilty. Years ago I was living in an-other city. I was married to my second wife, and it was neighborhood talk that we did not agree on account of property and my children. We had had several quarrels, and our domestic relations were rather strained. My wife became desperately ill of fever, and it left her mind in rather a shattered state. "She had become well enough one day to go out for a drive, and I of course accompanied her. We lived in a large passed along, and she looked surprised, as my wife suddenly writhed in agony. She had rheumatism, and my grasping her caused her to feel very sensitively my touch and to almost shrick in pain. However, I managed to get her up to the stable to feed my horse.

"I was out of the house only a few seconds when I heard cries of help and naw several neighbors rush into my yard. I went hastily in the direction indicated, and, to my horsor, found my wife lying prestrate under an open win-dow in the side yard. She had fallen on her brains dashed out, but by good for tune her head struck the soft soil of a flower hed. As it was, she was uncon scious for several days, and I heard from various sources that ugly reports had been circulated to the effect that I had been seen by the servant referred to choking my wife, and that I had taken her up stairs and had pitched her out the window.

"Of course I know that I was innocent, but how could I prove it? For weeks I passed through the most awful inxiety that any man ever sid experi-med. The officers were shadowing myev-ary movement, I knew, and I felt that all would be over with me if my wife should die. However, to my great joy, she recovered, and with her own lips told how the whole thing happened. I was at once reinstated in the good opinion of my friends, but sometimes I trem-ble even now when I think of what a narrow escape I had from being convicted of murder. I tell you appearances are often against the innocent, and this incident has always made me very char-

A Mind Cure Taradise. It is to be established at Halifux

Fla., by Mrs. Pelen Wilmans, apostle of mind oure. In her paper, "Free lom," she projects upon the outer consciousness, so to speak, the plan of this ideal colony. In the first place the spot itself is paradise, and ideal people will only have to establish themselves there to realize the heaven on earth which Mrs. Wilmans claims is the heritage of very human being.

The higher civilization, according to this priestess, is to come when man, by his powerful mind, is able to will things to come to pass instead of getting down and hustling for them with his hands and wrestling with brickbats. ledgers, machines and things. She declares there is in human nature a universal aspiration for getting above that plane where it must slave amid mate rial things to procure food to barely keep its dying body alive that it may slave some more and get more food only in order to do more work.

Mrs. Wilmans is right. There cer tainly is in human nature a universal desire to live without work.

Perhaps the colonists who cluster about Halifax, Fla., will be able to achieve that dream. If, when they do, they will show the rest of us the secret of it then will they be benefactors of the race. It is true, as the lady tells us, that at present the effort to overcome our environments of work exhaust our vital forces and leave us "nothing to do but to dio." We are to get out of this sad state, Mrs. Wilmans says, by chorishing growing mental aspirations for ease and happiness that will lift us into a heaven on cartia. You are to aspire in your mind and have faith in your desires. Consequently the paradise colony will not be a money making place. When we properly aspire in our minds and have faith in our desires, we shall not need to grovel for money. All things will come to us. But in order to enjoy the felicity of paradise at Halifax i seems to be neessary to have already a good supply of money, since at present there will only be accommodations for winter tourists. This is truly discouraging to these who would like to go to the carthly paradise and aspire in their

Precautions of Cld Time Doctors. It was formerly the practice among physicians to carry a came having a hollow head, the top of which was gold, pierced with holes like a pepper box. The top contained a small amount of aromatic powder or of smuff, and on entering a house or room where a disease supposed to be infectious prevailed the doctor would strike his cane on the floor to agritate the powder and then apply it to his nose. Hence all the old prints of home. physicians represent them with cones to their noses.—Liverpool Mercusy.

Why is it of plerce's Favorite Prescription? Because beauty of form and face radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good food, fresh air and exercise coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription."

If there be headache, pair in the back, learning-down sensations, or general debility, or if there he nervous disturbance, nervous prostration, and sleeplessness, the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It dispels aches and pains, corrects displacements and curse caterrhal inflammation of the liming membrances, falling of the womb, ulceration, irregularities and kindred maladies.

"FALLING OF WOMB."

A lonely old bachelor in Atchison sat on his porch the other evening, and in his great lonelinesse and desire to be made much of by one woman made up his mind that he would ask the seventh voman who passed, if unencumbered by a husband, to marry him. The first was a girl who wore red slippers and black stockings. The bachelor was crit-ical and congratulated himself that he had said seventh instead of first.

The second had a dude by the arm.
The third were glasses and looked coldly at the giggling couple ahead of her.
"Might as well go into the ice business," thought the bachelor. The fourth had three children with her and talked had three children with her and taixed about page as she passed the gate. The left wore widow's weeds. The sixth was such a modest, pretty girl of 16 that the backelor wondered if he badn's ally, and you no scorer get the spring that the backelor wondered is not seen ally, and you no scorer get the spring that the back level by the left is not seen and the back by the seen and said sixth instead of seventh. make one look so old. They spoil the expression of the eyes and leave a mark across the nose and are uncomfortable over the ears. So it generally happens that when one's eyesight gives out and everything grows woefully indistinct oyeglasses are resorted to. "So much more convenient than spectacles," said a friend to us the other day. Eyeglasses are a sort of compromise between youth and age, and as long as a person wears eyeglasses he may be regarded as not so very old, for whon old age unmistakably sets in then we censo to think much of appearances and cry out for comfort, and there is more real comfort in one pair of spectacles that will stay on your face right where you put them than there is in a dozen pairs of cyeglasses, which are always flying off on business of their own just when you want them.

Eyeglasses are made on purpose to break. They are always catching into something. The springs are frail as a spider's web. The bows are as hrittle as molasses candy in January. OVERTAXING THE HEART.

Record Breaking Is a Dongerous Pasting From a Medical Standpoint.

A bicyclist has accomplished the extraordinary feat of riding from the most northerly point in Scotland to the extreme southern point of England in 86 hours and 15 minutes. The most remarkable part of the act is included in the fact that he performed his task without indulging in one moment of sleep. He was 3 days 14 hours and 15 minutes without reclining once or resting or ceasing his active movement of propulsion except for the very briefest moments.

hours, accomplishing work equal to lifting 122 tens one foot. But it has recently been shown that eyeling tells severely and specially upon the circulation and that the number of stroker of the heart is doubled during such active exercises as that to which the rider subjects himself. The lowest estimate, therefore, of the work of the heart of the record breaker just mentioned would be 212,000 beats, with work done of 244 feet tons. This, maintained for the specified time, was equal to more than Set to a without repose.

Setting aside the physiological bearing of the performance, in suggesting that there is something in the persistent motion of the blood, sustained by volition of a resolute kind, which prevents the nervous system who make the uselves the victims of self inflicted in jury.

Apparently the athlete is none the worse for such a feat as this, but in reality he will have to pay a severe penalty for thus outraging nature. These violent strains bode in the end the certainty of premature decrepitude. Toward the goal of death the best heart can only perform a certain measure of work, and whether that be done by rapid or slow procacteristic of eyeglasses is the fact that when they are wanted most they turn upmissing. You may look and hunt, and hunt and look, and when you don't need than has practically been the fate of all those who have endeavored under the applause of their unthinking comrades to do what nature has not constructed them for doing without

A FAILURE

The committee returned from the gas well last night about? o'clock Their arrival was carerly watched When they all hited from the bus dejection was plainly written on

The boys were not in a very talka-tive mood but the facts were learned that at a depth of 1211 feet Trenton reck was reached. The drill was run twelve feet in the sand, with a smal showing of gas The drill went down three feet further, which did not in crease the volume of gas, but showed faint signs of oil. There was not enough of either present worthy of much ment ou, and when a depth of 1126 feet was reached the boys bundled into the back and came home. The Jamisons will continue the drilling a few feet further to de termine if there is any possibility of striking anything like a good flow of OIL NEAR ELMORE. ELMORE, Feb 6 - Monday after noon the well on the Myers farm some two miles from town toward the Mannee pike, was shot. It is thought to be a fine well, plenty of gas and oil, and a 250-barrel tank was So many test wells have been put down in and near Elmore with but little success that p ople are jubilant over this one.
